King Bidgood’s in the Bathtub

By Audrey Wood

“In this delightful story, the king refuses to leave his bathtub and rule the kingdom. “Beauty aside, this also has a panache and sly wit that will please children and their parents, who will be called on to peruse the book again and again.”—Booklist ”

Things to Do Together:

- Read the story!
- Talk about your child's bathtime and bedtime routines. What does bathtime look like at your house?
- Make a paper crown for your own little prince or princess and let them decorate it.
- Find more books about castles, kings, and queens at your local library.
- Play with baby dolls in the bathtub and role play the story. Your child can be the page who saves the day!
- Use a wisk or hand beater to make bubbles in the tub.
- Blow bubbles
- Look at the young boy, the page, in the story. As the story progresses, look at his face and body. How is he feeling?
- Talk about the problem solving that happens in the story. Whose ideas work? Which ideas don't work? Talk about a problem that your child is having and see how many ideas you can come up with together.
- King Bidgood plays with a lot of toys in the bathtub. What toys can you use in the tub?
- Pretend play being a king or queen or some other member of the court.
